

Amendments to the Specification:

Please replace the paragraph at page 7, lines 11-20, with the following amended paragraph:

The term extra-cellular pathogenic organism is used herein to denote any extra-cellular pathogen that causes a disease in a vertebrate, including bacterial, prokaryotic, protozoal and fungal species. Specific examples of extra-cellular pathogens to which the method of the invention may be applied include bacteria such as ~~Mycobacteria~~ Mycobacteria sp., notably ~~M Bovis~~ M Bovis and ~~M Tuberculosis~~ M Tuberculosis, ~~Helicobaeter~~ Helicobacter sp., ~~Streptococcus~~ Streptococcus sp., ~~Trypanasoma~~ sp., ~~Myeoplasma~~ Mycoplasma sp.; and prokaryotic pathogens such as ~~Eseherichia~~ sp. Escherichia sp., notably ~~E coli~~ E coli, and ~~Salmonella~~ Salmonella sp., notably ~~S typhimurium~~ S typhimurium.